Very interesting, kept the presentation fun and interesting, always in control of the group. The presentation was a definite asset to help us analyze the people we deal with and have a better working relationship. Thank you

Great visuals on synergy. Powerful tool to establish relationships with everyone you encounter. Fred's level of intensity presenting his material showed how consistent strategy can change behavior

Adina Rothenberg

Great activity and participation level – I believe that the direct involvement helps to cement the information and makes it easier to apply in real life. I learned about myself and thought that some people were being rude at times – I realize now that those people are dealing with their own stresses in their own way and it is not about me. I feel better already.

Tracey Greenwood

Entertaining and presented at the right pace. Not too much too fast where information is missed, nut fast enough so interest of participants is held throughout.

Very informative – helps with being able to deal with people and challenging different things of your personality to be more effective in the workplace
