

The Home Business Expo

Fred Sarkari was a presenter in an event I produce, The Home Business Expo.

From the time I invited Fred to participate in the event, he demonstrated himself to be both a true professional and highly knowledgeable about all aspects of sales.

I was impressed with the effort he made to develop a through list of possible topics for his presentations, customized to the distinct needs and interests of the show's audience.

In delivering his seminars, Fred's style was upbeat, dynamic, and engaging, which was clearly appreciated by the audience.

Importantly, he made the sessions interactive to ensure attendees had ample opportunity to participate and get their questions answered.

Overall, I felt Fred was an excellent speaker, and I would not hesitate to recommend him for other events.
